The Union Victory in Oregon

Oregon is redeemed! The fiat of her people is reverberating from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic, from rugged cliff across the tented field, along Virginia's "sacred soil" to Eastern defiles whence sprang out the myriad hosts of Liberty's defenders—the champions of the Union and the Law. The steps of our brave troops are quickened and their arms are strengthened as in serried ranks—on to Richmond—they march and hear the glorious news that Oregon is free! Our sick and suffering brothers in their sodded bed and heaven roofed hospitals are cheered and grateful for the assurance that Oregon has not refused her sympathy, any more than her gold, when they needed it in their distant cots. The falsehood, that our State would prove recreant to her loyal trust is "nailed" and the last foot of the monster Treason has slunk from off the Constitution into its bottomless place of birth

We have received thus far the returns of fifteen of the twenty counties composing the State, and the official vote of but six. Yet in these may be read a people's righteous verdict. Without doubt the figures reported unofficially are sufficiently correct for all purposes, and any variation in the official returns is as apt to be in favor of as against the Union ticket. Owing to the fact that in many instances the majorities only, without expressing the total vote, have come to hand, we can give no statement of the actual number of votes polled in the several counties named. Eleven of the counties give Union majorities, amounting in the aggregate to 2,025 votes. The copperhead ticket claims triumphs in Jackson 57, Columbia 4, Umatilla 15, making the total copperhead majorities sum up 76 votes. An unofficial report from Josephine county claims the entire ticket, except the Sheriff, for the Copperheads, but as they send no figures, the report is not entitled to much credence. The only counties against the Union ticket have been secured by importation of voters from counties they could not carry, in Columbia at least, the election will be contested on this ground, and no doubt with success

A Public Enemy

Below we quote an article from the San Francisco American Flag of June 1st, introducing only another phase of the treason that has been, ever since the commencement of the rebellion, tolerated by the people and Government until it is the assumed right of traitors, on the stump and through the press, to denounce every measure tending to a restoration of peace upon the only safe basis—that of absolute and entire subjugation of the rebels. Our loyal citizens should not be surprised if resident subjects of a foreign and secret foe take courage and express their true sentiments and wishes, when they find that native born traitors are permitted to heap insult and contumely upon our flag and our cause without abnegation of the least privilege accorded to the most faithful Union supporter. It is high time this licentiousness—misnamed liberty—was stopped, either by sending the traitors where they belong, and giving them a chance to defend their pet institutions, or else stopping their mouths at no matter what cost. Had our Government been as prompt in suppressing sentiments of murder and treason in the North as were the rebels in punishing with death expressions of loyalty in the South, there would not have been a reptile of the Copperhead species to exhale upon our soil his pestiferous breath to-day. Until our loyal States are protected from the damning blight of treason's growth—until these political fungi are removed from all the members of our national body, and the old sores promptly and efficiently cauterized, we have no right to expect or demand expressions of loyal sympathy from those who violate no oath of allegiance, but who remain, as aliens, true to the policy of their own governments, and inimical to the success of the Union cause. The Flag says

We have on several occasions alluded to the singular arrogance of tone assumed by certain organs of Louis Napoleon in this city, but the last number of L'Union Franco Americaine carries the thing beyond the bounds of decency and forbearance. It contains a defense of Davis which virtually amounts to a declaration of its adhesion to the Confederacy and concludes with the following extraordinary language, and no less insolent than extraordinary when uttered by a foreign organ published in a loyal American city. "When will Napoleon determine to recognize the South and let the Confederacy become an integral portion of the great Mexican Empire?"

Assuredly, no journal should continue to enjoy toleration in San Francisco that thus openly expresses its sympathy with the public enemy and dares even invoke the interposition of a foreign tyrant against our Government. We do not believe that a more flagrant instance of the abuse of the privileges which aliens enjoy among us can be found on record. When French journals published in California venture to such indecent length as this and when the subjects of Napoleon in our midst require (as we are informed was recently the case in Sacramento) a clause to be inserted in leases taken by them, to the effect that such leases shall be void when the French shall have taken Califo nia, when we have arrived at such a pass as this we consider it time that the emissaries of the Deux Mondes should be taught a lesson of moderation

In re Cowlitz River Navigation

We give below a decision of considerable importance to the commercial interests of our citizens and believe it will amply repay for perusal by the general reader

Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Co vs the Oregon Steam Navigation Co —Williams and Evans for the plffs—Strong for defts

Application for Injunction at Chambers Vancouver June 1st, 1864

On the 21st of January 1863 the Legislature of Washington Territory incorporated the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Co for the transportation of freight and passengers between Monticello and Cowlitz Landing, these [illegible] being on the Cowlitz river and within the territorial limits of Washington Territory, [illegible] that the Company would place a boat on said route and do other acts required within the time fixed in the charter then that they should have the exclusive right of navigation within the term and for the period of six years. On the 20th of January 1864 the act of incorporation was amended. Within the time required the Company placed a boat on said route and were navigating the same under their charter when on or about the 28th day of April 1864 the defendants commenced to navigate said Cowlitz river by running the steamboat Express from the city of Portland in the State of Oregon to different points on the Cowlitz river within the limits covered by the exclusive grant of plaintiffs. The plaintiffs therefore [illegible] their [illegible] against defendants and pray for an injunction restraining defendants from navigating the Cowlitz river until the matters at issue may be heard and determined

Several interesting questions are more or less connected with this case but from the presentation made in this application it is considered necessary to determine only two of them, viz

1st Whether the Cowlitz river is a navigable stream

2d Whether the defendants have a right under the Constitution and laws of the United States to run a steamboat from the city of Portland in the State of Oregon to the points on the Cowlitz river designated in plaintiffs charter any laws of Washington Territorial Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding

The test applied in England (the ebb and flow of the tide) to determine the character of a river however applicable to a country where only those streams affected by the tide were capable of receiving vessels and where tide water and navigable water were convertible terms is entirely inapplicable in a country like ours abounding in vast inland lakes aptly styled inland seas and traversed thousands of miles by imperial rivers on whose bosoms richly freighted with humanity and the products of an active labor and skill move the largest vessels. It is believed to be the law that all streams of sufficient capacity to admit of navigation by vessels boats and other water crafts used in the transportation of passengers or freight are navigable rivers and as such under the servitude of the public interests to be used as public highways. Carson v Blair, 2 Binn (Penn) R 476 Bowman's Devisees v Wathen 2 McLean (Cir Ct) R 376 Cates v Waddington 1 McCord (S C) R 580, Wilson v Forbes, 2 Dev (N C) R 30 Elder v Burris, 6 Humph (Tenn) R 366, American River Water Co v Amsden et als 6 Cal 443 The Propeller Genesee Chief et al v Fitzhugh et al 12 Howard R 443. Determined by this criterion and from the showing made I consider the Cowlitz river a navigable stream and as such to be used as a public highway

In examining the second question, the defendants admit as charged that they are engaged in running the Express from the city of Portland Oregon to points on the Cowlitz river within the limits of the Legislative grant of plaintiffs and allege that they have a right to do so under Sec 8 of the Constitution of the United States giving Congress power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with the Indian tribes and under the several Acts of Congress relative to "the registering and clearing of vessels and the "enrolling and licensing ships or vessels to be employed in the coasting trade and fisheries" and the defendants produce a Pilot certificate and a license of the steamer Express above 20 tons to carry on the coasting trade for one year from Sept 5, 1863

A question as large as the determination of the meaning and scope of this clause of the Constitution would be approached with unaffected hesitancy and diffidence but for the fact that happily for the country this clause has received an exposition and construction from Chief Justice Marshall whose fortune it was to examine many of the most interesting and vital provisions of our organic law making their hidden meanings plain and enriching and illuminating the investigation with a learning and a light to shine as beacons on the Judicial shores as long as the Great Republic shall live

The Legislature of the State of New York granted to Robert R Livingston and Robert Fulton the exclusive navigation of all the waters within the jurisdiction of that State with boats moved by fire or steam for a term of years. This grant was sustained by the highest tribunals of that State and upon an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States 9th Wheat R 1 after solemn argument unsurpassed in this country for ability the Chief Justice considered this clause of the Constitution and the Acts of Congress in pursuance thereof and held that the several acts of New York so far as they prohibited vessels licensed for carrying on the coasting trade pursuant to the laws of the United States from navigating the waters of New York to be repugnant to the Constitution and laws of the United States and hence inoperative and void. Without going into a detailed examination of the questions settled in that case it may be stated in general that the Court held that "the power to regulate commerce among the several States as far as it extends, is exclusively vested in Congress and that while this power does not embrace State inspection laws—or laws respecting turnpike roads, canals, ferries &c—or laws regulating the commerce of a State completely internal and forming no connecting link with another State these several matters being component parts of that immense mass of undelegated powers reserved to the States respectively"—yet that this power does embrace a commerce carried on from one State to another and that a "commerce among the several States cannot stop at the external boundary line of each State but may be introduced into the interior" and that commerce among the States must of necessity be commerce within the States," and this power would be a useless power if it could not pass the jurisdictional lines of the several States and penetrate the interior. The Court also held that a license under the Acts of Congress regulating the coasting trade gives permission to carry on that trade, and that this license would be an idle empty form conveying nothing unless it conveys the right to which the privilege is attached and in the exercise of which its whole value consists. In the case of The North river Steamboat Co' v John R. Livingston 3 Cowen N Y R 714, the opinion in Gibbons v Ogden, is critically examined and the principles enunciated in that case fully adopted, the Court of Errors, indeed carrying the decision in Gibbons v Ogden perhaps somewhat farther than the real points settled in that case might warrant

The case of Veazie v Moor, 14 Howard 568 has been referred to by plaintiff's counsel, and it is contended that under the doctrine enunciated in that case the plaintiffs have the right to enjoy the exclusive privilege granted them in their charter. An examination of this case however, does not sustain this position and the case in fact is authority against the plaintiffs. The case in brief is this

On the 30th of July 1846 the Legislature of Maine authorised Wm and Daniel Moore and their associates and assigns to improve the navigation of the Penobscot river above Old Town, a place eight miles above Bangor—the river between these places passing over a fall and crossed by four dams for manufacturing purposes, and for that distance never having been navigable—the corporators being required to make certain improvements and to run a steamboat between the termini named in their charter within seven years, and upon a performance of the several requirements they should have the exclusive privilege for 20 years after the completion of their improvements of navigating the Penobscot above Old Town as far as they should render the same navigable—the river having its rise far in the interior and being entirely within the State and forming no continuous commercial track to the sea or any State or foreign country.

The corporators having performed the requirements of their charter and being engaged in navigating the Penobscot above Old Town, Samuel Veazie and Levi and Warren K. Young placed the steamboat Governor Dana duly enrolled and licensed for the coasting trade on the Penobscot above Old Town, and thereupon the Supreme Court of Maine upon application enjoined Veazie and Young from running the Governor Dana and on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States the decision of the lower Court was held to be in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the United States, and was consequently affirmed—the Court holding that the commerce carried on under the charter was wholly internal and out of the operation of the clause giving Congress "power to regulate commerce among the several States"—deciding in the words of the syllabus to the case that "a State law granting to an individual an exclusive right to navigate the upper waters of the Penobscot river lying wholly within the limits of the State separated from tide water by falls impassable for purposes of navigation and not forming a part of any continuous track of commerce between two or more States or with a foreign country is not repugnant to the Constitution or any law of the United States"

Now in this case if the Cowlitz river disappeared under ground at Monticello, or because of falls or other natural obstructions was wholly unnavigable from that place to the Columbia river, then the case would be parallel and if the Territory of Washington has the same right of an independent domain and sovereignty over the navigable waters entirely within its limits that a State possesses—the exclusive right of the plaintiffs to the navigation of the Cowlitz river could be maintained under the authority of Veazie v Moor

As a fact, however, the Cowlitz river does not disappear at Monticello nor is its navigation obstructed between that place and its mouth where by discharging its waters into the Columbia it forms "a part of a continuous track of commerce between two or more States or with a foreign country"

As the cases cited would seem to determine this case an examination of the various other authorities is not deemed necessary. It may be added that if the plaintiffs were engaged in navigating the Cowlitz river solely between Monticello and Cowlitz Landing and the defendants were engaged in navigating it only between those points there would be features in such a case not in this case and upon such a state of facts no opinion is intended to be here expressed

Upon the whole, and after giving to the authorities the examination I thought due to the questions involved, I am of the opinion that the steamer Express in running under a license for carrying on the coasting trade from the city of Portland in the State of Oregon to points on Cowlitz river in Washington Territory is engaged in commerce among the several States, and that the act of the Legislature of Washington Territory passed January 21st 1863 and the act amendatory passed January 20th, 1864, incorporating the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Co and conferring upon that Co the exclusive right to navigate for six years the Cowlitz river between Monticello and Cowlitz Landing are repugnant to the Constitution and laws of the United States, and consequently inoperative and void in so far as said acts may prohibit vessels licensed under the laws of the United States for carrying on the coasting trade from navigating the waters of the United States from any port of the several States or a foreign country to the different landings on the Cowlitz river in the Territory of Washington, and the injunction prayed for by plaintiffs is accordingly refused

BALTIMORE June 8—The Convention reassembled at 10 o'clock a m—Dennison ex Governor of Ohio in the chair

Prayer by Rev Mr Colles, of Ohio

The Committee on the Order of Business reported with a few amendments was adopted

King of New York, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials made a majority report that the Missouri radicals be admitted that the Arkansas delegates be admitted to seats without a right to vote that the delegates from South Carolina be not admitted that those from the District of Columbia be admitted to seats without the privilege of voting

The minority made a report which concurred with the majority report with the exception of the exclusion of the delegates from the States of Virginia and Arkansas, and the Territories of Colorado, Nevada and Nebraska from the right of voting

That part of the majority report relating to the seats of uncontested delegates was adopted

Several amendments regarding the manner in which the Missouri delegates should be admitted, was rejected

The question recurred, upon the adoption of the majority report, admitting the radicals from Missouri

A call for a vote by the States was made, which resulted in the unanimous adoption of the majority report admitting the Missouri radicals

The remaining propositions offered by King as an amendment that the delegates from Tennessee, Virginia Florida, Louisiana, Arkansas and all the territories, which the majority report proposed, to admit without the right to vote, should have a right to vote, was put

Lane of Kansas asked a division on the question to vote as to the States first and then Territories. The division was called. The Convention then voted ayes 310, noes 153

On giving Tennessee the right to vote they voted as to whether the delegates from Arkansas, Louisiana should have the same privilege which resulted as the former vote

The report of the Committee on Credentials was then adopted

Raymond, of New York, from the Committee on Resolutions reported the following

Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all enemies the integrity of the Union and the paramount authority of the Constitution of the United States. Laying aside all differences of political opinion we pledge ourselves as Union men animated by a common sentiment aiming at a common object, to do everything in our power to aid the Government in quelling, by force of arms, the existing rebellion now waging against its authority bringing to the punishment due their crimes the rebel traitors arrayed against it

Resolved That we approve the determination of the United States Government not to compromise with the rebels or offer any terms of peace except such as may be based upon the unconditional surrender or suspension of their hostilities and return to their just allegiance to the Constitution and Laws of the United States. We call upon the Government to maintain this position, by the utmost possible vigor to the complete suppression of the rebellion, with a full reliance upon the self sacrifice patriotism, heroic valor undying devotion of the American people to their country and its free institutions

Resolved, That as slavery was the cause, and now constitutes the strength of this rebellion, it must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of a republican government, justice and National safety demand its utter extirpation from the soil of the republic. We uphold and maintain the acts and proclamations by which the Government in its own defense aimed a death blow at this gigantic evil, and are in favor, furthermore of such amendments to the Constitution, to be made by the people in conformity with its provisions, as shall terminate forever and prohibit the existence of slavery within the limits and jurisdiction of the United States

The next resolution thanks the soldiers of the army and sailors of the navy, for the gallant and heroic achievements in the defence of the country

The following resolution approves of the practical wisdom, unselfish patriotism, of Abraham Lincoln and endorses as essential to the preservation of the Nation, and as constitutional all measures and acts which he has adopted to defend the Nation against open and secret foes. It approves especially the Emancipation Proclamation and the employment as Union soldiers of men heretofore held as slaves

Resolved That the Government owes to all men employed in its armies, without regard to color, full protection of the laws of war and the violation of these laws by the rebels should be made a subject for a full and prompt redress

The next resolution favors the fostering and encouraging foreign emigration and a speedy construction of the Pacific Railroad

Resolved, That the national faith is pledged to the redemption of the public debt and must be kept inviolate, and for this purpose we recommend economy and a rigid responsibility of public expenditures a vigorous and just system of taxation

Resolved, That it is the duty of every loyal State to sustain the credit of the Government and promote the use of National currency

Resolved, That we approve the position taken by the Government, that the people of the United States can never regard with indifference any attempt by any European power to overthrow by force and supplant by fraud, the institutions of any Republican Government on the Western Continent and will view with extreme jealousy, as menacing peace and independence of our own country, any such power to obtain a foothold for monarchical governments to sustain foreign military force in or near the proximity of the United States

The reading of the resolutions were frequently interrupted by applause

A motion to adopt the resolutions by acclamation was adopted

A motion to proceed at once to the nominations for candidates was made

Cameron, of Pennsylvania, offered as a substitute that Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin be declared the unanimous choice of the Union party

Calls were made for a division of the question

An order was made to vote separately

Stevens, of Penn, moved to lay the motion on the table

Considerable confusion prevailed amid cheering and cries for the question

Cameron withdrew his motion and offered a substitute that Lincoln be declared the unanimous choice of the Union party

As the question was about being taken Raymond urged that the vote be taken by States, as it had been said there was a disposition to rush the nomination of Lincoln through the Convention, and stifle any contrary expression of sentiment

The proposition was well received amid much confusion

The States were called and resulted in Lincoln receiving 497 Grant 22—all from Missouri

On motion the vote was declared unanimous

The Convention then proceeded to vote for Vice President

Andrew Johnson of Tennessee Hannibal Hamlin of Maine Daniel S Dickinson of New York and L H Rousseau, of Kentucky were named as candidates

As the ballot proceeded it became apparent that Johnson would be the nominee

Before the vote was announced, various States who's votes had been divided commenced changing and went unanimously for him and he was declared the choice of the Convention

After the election of the National Committee and the adoption of various resolutions of thanks, the Convention adjourned sine die

CINCINNATI, June 8—A rebel force supposed to be under the command of John Morgan made an entrance into Eastern Kentucky a few days ago. This morning he captured Mount Sterling and destroyed the Central Railroad track between Cynthiana and Paris and cut the telegraph wires. Another gang attacked the passenger train on the Louisville and Lexington Railroad near Smithfield. Two passenger cars and a baggage car were burned and the express car robbed. The engine was thrown off the track, but very fortunately none of the passengers were hurt

CHICAGO, June 9—Dispatches from Dallas dated the 31 says that the enemy made seven distinct charges on McPherson's lines last night making desperate efforts each time to gain the works. They were repulsed each time with terrible slaughter, our men never yielding an inch

Alabama papers say that every train that comes from the North is loaded with wounded, already more than they know what to do with. Skirmishing along the whole line continues briskly

NEW YORK June 8—The Times special says that on Sunday the rebels under cover of a dense fog made an assault after dark on Smith's brigade of the 2d corps and a parted in strong line of battle to a point within pistol range of our works before they were discovered. No sooner did the out posts give the alarm than one sheet of fire burst forth from our lines in front of both flanks of the enemy. In half an hour the enemy were thrown back in confusion leaving the ground covered with dead and wounded. Our loss is small

Brig Gen Barnard took the position of chief engineer of the army to day

The Herald's correspondent says that our line runs nearly parallel with the Chickahominy but is exceedingly irregular. The right is formed by Burnside's corps, center by Wright's and the left by Hancock's. Large reinforcements arrived this evening and more coming

Richmond papers of the 7d say that on Friday 11 assaults were made by Grant on the right of the line held by Renshaw Hokes and Breckinridge and all were repulsed with great slaughter. They put our loss at from 10 000 to 20 000 with 1000 prisoners their men escaping almost unharmed. They acknowledge that we gained a partial success against Breckinridge but say that the rebels subsequently recovered the ground

The Sentinel further says that Grant's object was to gain a strong position around Gaines Mill, open the road to Bottom Bridge and connect with Butler which object was signally defeated

Our men are busily engaged in digging towards the enemy's works

The attack on Sunday night was made by our working parties

WASHINGTON June 8—A dispatch from Charles A Dana dated Head quarters last night says the Richmond Examiner of to day speaks of the defeat of Gen W E Jones by Gen Hunter, 12 miles to yond Staunton. Jones was killed on the field and his successor retreated to Waynesboro, who now holds the mountains between Charlottesville and Staunton. The same paper further states that no artillery or stores were captured by Gen Hunter

Another dispatch announces that our forces have occupied Staunton

A dispatch from Grant, dated 3 p m of the 7th, reports all quiet to day

A dispatch from Sherman, dated Ackworth, June 7th—6 p m says I have been to Allatoona Pass and find it very admirable for our purpose—being a gate through the last or eastern spur of the Alleghanies. It now becomes as useful to us as it has been to the rebels being easily defended from either direction. Roads hence from Ackworth into Georgia are large and good and the country more open. The enemy is not in our immediate front, but his signals are seen at Lost Mountain and Kenesaw

Dispatches from Gen Canby dated June 3d, reports satisfactory progress in the reorganization of his command

GRAND RATIFICATION MEETING LAST NIGHT. An immense concourse of loyal citizens assembled last evening, at the corner of Front and Washington streets, to ratify the nominations of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois, for President and ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee, for Vice President, of the United States of America for the next four years. After a few pieces by the band, owing to the coolness of the evening, the crowd adjourned to the Willamette Theatre, where amid speeches, fireworks, cheers and a national salute of thirty four guns, the ratification took place with tumultuous applause. Mr Henderson, Congressman elect. Judge Williams, Hon. David Logan, Gov Gibbs, Hon George L Woods, candidate for Presidential Elector, and Capt Keeler, Provost Marshal, entertained the well pleased crowd until a late hour

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The Public School examination, during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, passed off with credit to teachers and pupils. It is a pleasant thing to attend these examinations. The large, cool, airy school rooms, well provided with seats, black boards, maps, and all things needed for the comfort of teachers and scholars form an attraction to the visitor, and while they are honorable to the city and the school directors, they remind us of old times, and old school houses, at the cross roads, in out of the way places, poorly furnished for summer's heat or winter's cold, uninteresting without and repulsive within. A ROUGH TRIP.—Captain Dodge returned from Victoria on an "independent" line he had chartered for the purpose, some portions of which might be considered pretty rough. A "plunger" was employed for the service to Olympia, thence overland to the Cowlitz river, where he embarked in a canoe, with an Indian master, making the descent of that river during the night time in a heavy rain storm. The snags of the stream were no terror to the red man, and they all arrived safe at the place of destination. The present way of traveling on the northern coast of the Pacific, will "figure" largely in the history of coming generations.

A BAGGAGE SUIT.—A suit was brought before Recorder McCoy yesterday, and tried by jury, to recover damages sustained by the loss of baggage from one of our hotels. The case was argued with a great deal of ability by the counsel on both sides in which some strong points were established, to show the relations existing between the landlord of a hotel and his guest. Verdict was entered for the defendant, and an appeal taken to the Circuit Court. When the suit terminates we shall give some of the leading characteristics of the trial, as in a point of law we consider them of importance to the community.

1856 AND 1860.—An enterprising dealer in this city, determined not to be behind his fellow "notion" traders in procuring ensigns for the Presidential canvas, and as soon as he learned of the nomination of Fremont by the radicals and Lincoln by the Union party, he telegraphed to New York for an invoice of "Jessie Circles," and "rail fences." The "dear people" will now have to again follow the trail of the "Path finder," and the "zig-zags" of the Wide Awakes practically to go through the canvass of '56 and 60. Hunt up your files

GRAND RATIFICATION MEETING LAST NIGHT. An immense concourse of loyal citizens assembled last evening, at the corner of Front and Washington streets, to ratify the nominations of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois, for President, and ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee, for Vice President, of the United States of America for the next four years. THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The Public School examination, during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, passed off with credit to teachers and pupils. It is a pleasant thing to attend these examinations. The large, cool, airy school rooms, well provided with seats, blackboards, maps, and all things needed for the comfort of teachers and scholars, form an attraction to the visitor, and while they are honorable to the city and the school directors, they remind us of old times, and old school houses, at the cross roads, in out of the way places, poorly furnished for summer's heat or winter's cold, uninteresting without and repulsive within. But times have changed, and so also has the public feeling with regard to schools. In keeping with our noble structure are our methods of instruction. The books are generally of the choicest kinds; the teachers seem to appreciate their advantages; they appear to exercise a firm, yet mild government. Order prevails in all the departments. The pupils seem well disposed, and the evident purpose is to secure thoroughness, with steady progress, even though it be slow. Parents would do well to visit the public school often; it would stimulate their children and aid the teachers. Mr. E. P. Beebe, the Principal, furnished us with the following report, at the close of the quarter last evening. The teachers are: Miss E. A. Way, Assistant in the Senior department; Mr. J. S. Freeman Intermediate, Miss King and Miss Henderson Primary. The school has registered in all its branches 161 males, and 131 female scholars, with an average daily attendance for the term 2.7h.

SHALL WE CELEBRATE?—At the closing of the session of the Common Council on Thursday evening one of the members moved to adjourn for two weeks, but the proposition was objected to, on the ground that: should there be a celebration of the coming anniversary of our National Independence, the Council might possibly be required to meet at least as often as usual, and the motion was not agreed to. There appears to be a disposition among our citizens to do honor to the day, but there is a lack of movement, necessary to bring it about. The ladies had thought of taking the initiatory steps, but we understand have since abandoned the idea. If the day is to be rationally observed in Portland prompt action will be needed as it is not far distant.

RIVAL DISPATCHES.—"News" is periodically circulated on the streets, as coming from the seat of war, which does not appear in our dispatches, nor do they come over the California and Oregon Telegraph Company's lines. This "news" is always gratuitously circulated, and lest we may be considered selfish, we publish this as a request—that if persons receiving dispatches by the underground line will bring them to our office, duly authenticated, we will give the public the benefit of them in print. We are paying the telegraph company an immense amount of money for the "news," and if all the "sensation" dispatches are to come by some other "line" we don't like it.

SOLD!—At half past six o'clock last evening, our citizens were surprised by the report of a cannon, and it being known that the Pacific was due, the alarm took, and Front street was soon crowded with a living mass, moving towards the landing. We were astonished at the crowd, and it would be impossible to tell where they all came from. Drays rushed, everybody rushed, but no steamer appeared, and a counter current set back, composed of all sorts of countenances, because they were sold. We afterwards ascertained that the surprise was occasioned by the firing of the first gun in Portland in ratification of the nominees of the Baltimore convention.

A ROUGH TRIP.—Captain Dodge returned from Victoria on an "independent" line he had chartered for the purpose, some portions of which might be considered pretty rough. A "plunger" was employed for the service to Olympia, thence overland to the Cowlitz river, where he embarked in a canoe, with an Indian master, making the descent of that river during the night time in a heavy rain storm. The snags of the stream were no terror to the red man, and they all arrived safe at the place of destination. The present way of traveling on the northern coast of the Pacific, will "figure" largely in the history of coming generations.

A BAGGAGE SUIT.—A suit was brought before Recorder McCoy yesterday, and tried by jury, to recover damages sustained by the loss of baggage from one of our hotels. The case was argued with a great deal of ability by the counsel on both sides, in which some strong points were established, to show the relations existing between the landlord of a hotel and his guest. Verdict was entered for the defendant, and an appeal taken to the Circuit Court. When the suit terminates we shall give some of the leading characteristics of the trial, as in a point of law we consider them of importance to the community.

1856 AND 1860.—An enterprising dealer in this city, determined not to be behind his fellow "notion" traders in procuring ensigns for the Presidential canvas, and as soon as he learned of the nomination of Fremont by the radicals and Lincoln by the Union party, he telegraphed to New York for an invoice of "Jessie Circles," and "rail fences." The "dear people" will now have to again follow the trail of the "Path-finder," and the "zig-zag" of the Wide Awakes, practically to go through the canvass of '56 and '60. Hunt up your files.

TREASURE.—One hundred and fifty pounds of gold dust arrived by the Cascades steamer last evening, to Wells, Fargo & Co.

BOISEITES IN TOWN.—At many of our hotels we notice representatives from the Boise country. In conversation they all seem to agree that those mines have not yet "played out" notwithstanding the great concentration of the present season has created "dullness" in most branches of business. The lack of water is already felt, and hundreds are out of employment in consequence. The quartz interests of the basin are much better than was anticipated. A company that had taken a set of arastras, to work their lode, found the rock to yield such amounts as would warrant better means of working it, and have ordered a 10 stamp mill instead, from San Francisco. Such is Boise, at the present time.

STRAWBERRIES.—We shall hereafter be under the necessity of crediting floating stories about the size of mammoth strawberries—when it is told that they are often so large that one single one is enough for a meal, and all that. Colonel Chapman yesterday placed upon our table a lot from his garden, which beat anything we have seen, one dozen of them weighed five ounces, and they were of excellent flavor.

TARGET EXCURSION.—The field exercises of Company A, will consist partly of target shooting to-day, at the place of rendezvous on the Caruthers claim, at the southern extremity of the city. No doubt there will be a large attendance to witness the sport, recreation, and duties of the volunteer militia.

SANITARY FUND RECEIPTS.—From Brucesport, Pacific Co., W. T., $203 in currency, forwarded by Chas Barstow, contributed as follows: M S Griswold $20; T Crellin, $15; J Nelson, J Pope, C C Vail, A Smith, G W Parker, W Hannegan, G H Brown, W Connolly, S Marshal, J Airey, J Riddell, W B Clark, G Johnson, J T Francis, F Nelson, C Barstow, $10 each; Cath Pope, Mrs C C Vail, $5 each; Mary and Alice Pope, $1 each.

☞ In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system, is acknowledged by all.

Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue, and take no other. Sold everywhere.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. ap26d1m

Diseases of Old Age.—As man approaches his allotted three score and ten years the vital powers begin to fail; stimulants of various kinds are used to strengthen the naturally failing system, such as wines, bark, &c. Instead of these, let the aged keep up the supply of the tone strengthening element, iron, by the PERUVIAN SYRUP, which offers a protoxide of that metal ready for immediate absorption.

From the army hospital—the bloody battle-field—the mansion of the rich and humble abode of the poor—from the office and the sacred desk—from the mountain top, distant valleys and far-off islands of the ocean—from every nook and corner of the civilized world—is pouring in the evidence of the astonishing effects of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS. Thousands upon thousands of letters like the following may be seen at our office.

REEDSBURY, Wis., Sept. 16, 1864.

" * * * I have been in the army hospitals for fourteen months—speechless and nearly dead. At Alton, Ill., they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me.
C. A. FLAUTE."

SOUTH WARSAW, O., July 28, 1863.

" * * * One young man, who had been sick and not out of the house for two years with Scrofula and Erysipelas, after paying the doctors over $100 without benefit, has been cured by ten bottles of your Bitters.
EDWARD WOUNALL.

The following is from the manager of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers:

HAVEMEYER MANSION, FIFTY-SEVENTH STREET,
New York, August 2, 1863.

"DR. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness, and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well. * * * Respectfully, MRS. O. M. DEVOE."

" * * * I owe much to you, for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.
REV. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y."

" * * * Thou wilt send me two bottles more of thy Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use.
Thy friend, ASA CURRIN, Philadelphia, Pa."

" * * * I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.
REV. J. S. CATHORN, Rochester, N. Y.

" * * * Send us twenty-four dozen more of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which are daily increasing with the guests of our house.
SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.,
Proprietors Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C.

" * * * I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.
G. W. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, O.

" * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of liver complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate and had to abandon my business.
H. B. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, O."

" * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.
C. C. MOORE, 254 Broadway, N. Y.
etc. etc. etc. etc. etc.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c. all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated, and signature on steel plate side label.

Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.

STOP THAT COUGHING!
SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY YOU. YOU have tried every remedy but the right one; and that one is destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but;

NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup!
Is really what is claimed for it; namely, the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefitted by the surprising curative powers of

Pulmonary Syrup!
And with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the Greatest Panacea of the Age, for the healing of all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that

Pulmonary Syrup!
Has cured thousands, and it will cure YOU if you try it.

This invaluable medicine is pleasant to the taste; soothing, healing and strengthening in its effects; entirely free from all poisonous or deleterious drugs, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances.
Certificates from many prominent citizens of San Francisco, accompany every bottle of

JUST RECEIVED, a new article of CODFISH, by way of Isthmus, and for sale at
D. F. HARRINGTON'S, First street.

Bred in the Bone.—The question of reforming young thieves was agitated some years since. The most ancient attempt of this kind of which we have any knowledge, is related in the Gulistan de Saadi. Unfortunately, it does not coincide with those philosophers who deny hereditary instincts.

Among the band of robbers who had been arrested after great difficulty, was a young man who had scarcely passed his boyhood. One of the viziers prostrated himself at the foot of the throne, and in a voice of deep supplication, he exclaimed "This young man, oh! king! has not yet tasted the pleasures of youth. My hopes are based upon the generous character of your majesty. You will, I know, grant me his life, and thus confer a deep obligation on your faithful servant."

At this request the king's brow darkened, and he replied "The same sun gives not light to virtue and vice. To perverse spirits instruction is like a nut thrown from the top of a dome—it falls to the earth. To put out a fire and leave sparks on the hearth, or kill a viper and take care of its young, are acts not done by wise men. And though clouds discharge over the earth the water that fertilizes it, still we do not gather fruits from the branches of the willow."

The vizier applauded these proverbs and declared with humility, he could not gainsay them. "Nevertheless," he replied, "as this child has only been guilty of theft because he has been brought up among thieves, your servant would fain believe that if he received instruction from honest men he would in time correct his faults. For he is still a child, for it is written, that all children are born in the faith of Islam, but are corrupted by their parents. The sons of Noah, your Majesty may remember, from associating with the wicked lost the gift of prophecy, while the dog of the seven sleepers, from following the good, became in time a man."

Other personages at court joining their prayer to the vizier's, the king replied: "I yield to your prayers, though I do not agree with you in judgment."

And so the young man was brought up in luxury and with great care, and, under the charge of a good tutor, he became wise and respected by all. When the vizier called the king's attention to this fact, the monarch smiled and replied by one of those proverbs so common among the wise sayings of the East. "Thy adopted son has been fed on our milk. he has grown in our midst, and has become an innocent sheep, but take heed he does not find out that his father was a wolf."

Years passed away, and a band of robbers came at last in the neighborhood of the city where the young man lived. He joined them, together they formed an association, and the vizier's pupil, seizing a favorable opportunity, murdered his benefactor and all his children, taking away immense plunder. He then established himself in his father's place, at the head of the band, in a large cave, their place of rendezvous.

The king then remarked with a sad countenance "How can a good sword be made of bad iron? The unworthy, O most wise philosophers, are not made good by instruction. The rain, though beneficial, brings forth tulips in the garden, but only weeds in a bad soil."

A Wager and How it Was Won.—Doctor Jameson is one of the most able, talented, and eccentric surgeons of the present century. His practice embraces a large circuit, and his fame extends to every part of Massachusetts. The doctor was one morning sitting in his office poring over some medical work, when a loud rap at the door aroused him.

"Come in," said the doctor, and an old [illegible] hobbled into the apartment, who seemed the very embodiment of dirt and negligence.

"Doctor, I've got a dreadful sore foot—can [illegible] cure it?" said she.

"I will try—let me see it."

The old crone proceeded to divest her understanding of the apology for a shoe with which it was covered, and displayed to the astonished doctor a foot—and such a foot!

"La, doctor, ye needn't be in such a wonderment about it. There's dirtier feet than that, I'll warrant—aye, and dirtier feet than that in your own house, as proud as the young ladies, your daughters, are, for all that."

And the old hag cackled forth her pleasure at the doctor's surprise.

"Woman, if you can show a dirtier foot than that in my house, I will give you five dollars and cure your foot for nothing."

"'Pon honor?" cried the bedlame.

"'Pon honor," said the doctor.

The woman stripped off the other stocking, and displayed a foot that beggared all description, grinning in the face of the astonished doctor as she exclaimed

"Gie me the money! I knowed it—I washed tother 'fore I came here."

Natural Acting.—The following remarkable anecdote is extracted from "An Essay on the Science of Acting."

In the town of North Walsham, Norfolk, 1783, Fair Penitent was performed. In the last act, where Calista lays her hand on the skull, Mrs Berry who played the part, was seized with an involuntary shuddering, and fell on the stage. During the night her illness continued, but the following day, when sufficiently recovered to converse, she sent for the stage keeper and anxiously inquired where he procured the skull. He replied from the sexton, who informed him that it was the skull of one Norris a player, who, 12 years before was buried in the graveyard. This same Norris was her first husband. She died in six weeks.

A Queer Plea.—A man brought some time since to trial in France for the murder of his wife and mother-in law put in quite a new plea, which however, was overruled. "Remember, MM les Jures," said the man, who defended himself, "that I am fifty years old, was married very early, and my wife's mother has never left us, and yet I have never done this before." The circumstance was not considered sufficiently "extenuating," and the jury found the prisoner guilty.

Bob F——had long been paying the most devoted attentions to a young lady whose father had what is popularly known as "rocks," when his attentions suddenly ceased, and of course, every one was anxious to know the cause. Bob explained. You see I know she was rich, and didn't think a bit the less of her for that, but the truth of the matter is, she turned out to be a nay Bob!

The following advertisement appears in a late number of the London Times:

"Jane, your absence will ruin all—think of your husband, your parents, your children, all of whom have bad colds. Return—all may yet be—happy. At any rate, inclose the key of the cupboard where the cough balsam is."

At a fancy dress ball in Paris, France, recently a lady was seen with a very low necked dress, wide floating and waving an abundance of green gauze. She was politely asked by a gentleman what she personated.

"The sea, Monsieur."

"At low tide then, Madame."

The lady blushed profusely and the gentleman smiled.

An old gentleman, the other day, inadvertently sat down on the "spur of the moment"—His shrieks were horrible.

The troops which came here from the Army of the Potomac, brought with them various ornamental habits and customs that were new to the Western soldiers. Among them was the corps badge, which designated the corps to which officers and men were attached. For instance, the badge of the Eleventh Corps is a crescent, that of the Twelfth a star. The badge is made of any material—gold silver or red flannel—and is worn conspicuously on some part of the clothing. The Western corps have no such badge. How an Irishman explained the matter is thus told. A soldier came by the headquarters of General Butterfield, a tired weather beaten straggler. He was one of those who made Sherman's march from Memphis to Chattanooga, thence to Knoxville, and was now returning in the terrible cold of that memorable march, thinly clad, one foot covered with a badly worn army shoe, the other with a piece of raw hide, bound with strings about a sockless foot—both feet cut and bleeding. "Arms at will," he trudged past the headquarters' guard, intent only upon overtaking his regiment. "Halt!" said a sentinel with a bright piece, clean uniform, and white gloves. "What do you belong to?"

"Eight Missihoory, sure."

"What division?"

"Morgan L Smith's, av coorse."

"What brigade?"

"Giles Smith's Second Brigade of the Second Division."

"To what army corps?"

"The Fifteenth, you d—d fool. I am one of the heroes of Vicksburg. Anything more, Mr Sentinel?"

"Where is your badge?"

"My badge, is it, what is that?"

"Do you see this star on my cap? That is the badge of the Twelfth Corps. That crescent on my partner's cap is the badge of the Eleventh Corps."

"I see now. That's how yez Potomick fellers gits home uv dark nights. Ye takes the moon and shtars with yez."

"But what is the badge of your corps?"

Making a round about, and slapping his cartridge box, our soldier replied.

"D'ye see that? A cartridge box, with a U S on a brass plate, and forty rounds in the cartridge box, and sixty round in our pockets. That's the badge of the Fifteenth, that came from Vicksburg to help ye fight Chattanooga."

Miscegenation Sent Home.—A day or two since a Southern pro-slavery gentleman of our city, and a strong sympathizer with rebeldom—who moreover cherishes the portraits of Beauregard and other rebel leaders—accosted an old gentleman on the street saying

"You are an old Abolitionist I believe."

"Yes, sir," replied the other, "I plead guilty to that charge; but I am not an amalgamationist, however."

At this moment Ephraim came up—well known here for his ebony color, his jovial good nature and his ready wit:

"Well, Eph," said the Southern gentleman, "I suppose you go in for amalgamation, miscegenation and what not?"

"Oh yes, certainly," quickly responded Eph. "All Southern gentlemen do."

The other Southern gentleman sloped.—Sonora Eagle.

A refugee who has just escaped from Wilmington, N C, says "I lived within a few doors of Mr. Mallory the Confederate States Secretary of the Navy. His wife, a Spanish lady, is most anxious to reach the State of Massachusetts, where her sister now is living. The Secretary and his lady are actually very poor, so poor, that when guests were at their house they usually had to borrow from unstable equipage, and that of the simplest. During a temporary absence, I made the Secretary welcome to the milk of my solitary cow, and he esteemed it, for his wife's sake, an exceedingly great kindness."

It Begins with a "Ho!"—"Is there anything for George Hogden?" inquired a young man the other day at the New York post-office. "Nothing, sir." Three days did George ask for a letter. The last day, happening to watch the clerk, he suddenly cried "Look 'ere! I say, you're looking among the haitches, my name begins with a ho!"

"Well, Jane, this is a queer world," said Joe, to his sister, "a sect of women philosophers has just sprung up." "Indeed," said Jane, "and what do they hold?" "The strangest thing in nature," said Joe, "their tongues."

Notice.

SEALED PROPOSALS "IN DUPLICATE" will be received at the office of the undersigned until 10 o'clock a m on Friday the 10th day of June 1864 for the supply of Fresh Beef for the Troops stationed at Fort Vancouver, W T, for the Fiscal year, commencing on the 1st day of July 1864, and ending on the 30th day of June 1865.

Said Fresh Beef to be of a good and marketable quality, in equal proportion of Fore and Hind quarter meat (Necks, Shanks and Kidney Tallow to be excluded) in such quantities as may be from time to time required, and on such days as shall be designated by the Commanding Officer. The Necks of the Cattle slaughtered for Beef shall be cut off at the "Fourth Vertebral Joint" and the Breast trimmed down. The Shanks of Fore quarters shall be cut off from "Three" to "Four" Inches above the Knee-Joint, and of Hind quarters, from "Six to Eight" Inches above the gambrel or Hock Joint.

Each bid must be accompanied with the names of two responsible sureties, bound for the faithful performance of the contract.

Bidders and their sureties will not only be required to take the Oath of Allegiance to the United States, but will also have to render satisfactory proofs that their conduct has been strictly Loyal during this rebellion as no Bid from any person of "doubtful" Loyalty will be entertained.

The Contract will be subject to the approval of the Department Commander.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned and endorsed thus "Proposals for Supply of Fresh Beef."

Bidders are invited to be present at the opening of the Bids.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,
OR PROTECTED
Solution of Protoxide of Iron,
Has been used with Great Success in Curing
DYSPEPSIA,
Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury, GENERAL DEBILITY,
and all Diseases which require a
Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous and so well authenticated that [illegible] hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. [illegible] the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the Peruvian Syrup do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown, and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES M D

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city, and Prof Booth U S Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published to the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly, July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh strength and color. hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and extracting giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre. and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising may be cured strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which as a sex they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.
